THE MANAGER DARRELL CLARKE

Happy Christmas Robins fans and welcome back to the Completely-Suzuki Stadium for our final two games of 2023. I'd also like to welcome all the staff, fans and players from both Shrewsbury and Reading to Cheltenham today.

"Your support has been brilliant since I arrived at the club and we're going to need it today, in the next game and for the rest of the season"

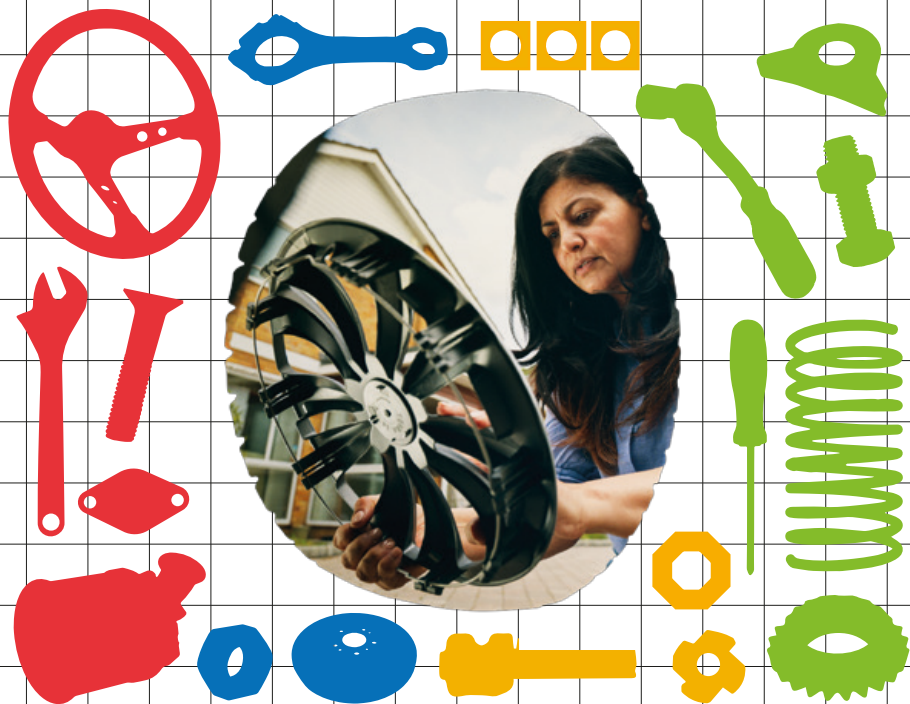

It's such a busy time of year for everyone in football and we've been busy working away. We've got a big nine points to play for over the rest of the Christmas period. Whether it be out on the training pitch or in the classroom, with the games coming around thick and fast we need to get it right.

Our main is to win games. Football is all about winning games and we'll be doing everything we can to pick up as many points as possible. Your support has been brilliant since I arrived at the club and we're going to need it today, in the next game and for the rest of the season.

Once again I hope you all had a happy Christmas and enjoy your day and the today's game.

COYR

CHAIRMAN DAVID BLOXHAM

I should like to offer a very warm welcome to the directors, players, staff and fans of both Shrewsbury Town and Reading to our respective League One fixtures at the Completely-Suzuki Stadium over the festive period. I hope that everyone attending each of these two games had a very happy Christmas and good journeys to attend today's game.

The past 12 months have been eventful at Cheltenham Town with highs and lows and several staff changes occurring during the close season. Unfortunately, the disruption of some of those summer changes contributed towards a difficult start to our season. But since Darrell Clarke was appointed as our First Team manager and Adam Murray as his assistant, our form has improved. Whilst we are still at the foot of the League One table I feel that the signs of improvement are such that there is a realistic possibility that we can climb the league table and hopefully avoid being in the bottom four at the end of the season.

I should like to take this opportunity to thank the players and all staff across the whole club for their hard work and commitment throughout 2023. Although the start of this season has been difficult I feel that we should be very proud of our current league status and ensure that we all fight every inch of the way to preserve that status during the rest of the season and indeed beyond. I would like to think that we are well regarded as a friendly and respected club based upon a good work ethic and sporting principles which enables us to punch well above our resources.

During the past week I had the pleasure of watching our youth team playing in the third round of the FA Youth Cup against Sheffield United. I was very proud and delighted at the way that the youngsters represented our club not only by their performance on the pitch but also their behaviour and commitment as representatives of the club leading up to the match. Although the result went against us all the young boys playing plus the academy staff who supported them were a great credit to our club.

I was very proud of the way that our youngsters represented themselves in the FA Youth Cup this week

Being a footballer is, to many people a glamorous career but it does take a lot of hard work and sacrifice to achieve a professional standard. The Christmas period is extremely busy for players and staff in the sport with fixtures coming thick and fast and I would like to thank our players and all the coaching staff for the time and commitment they put in whilst the rest of us are enjoying the Christmas festivities. For us fans it is great to be able to watch our teams playing over the holiday period so a big thank you for all those involved in getting games played for us to enjoy.

In closing I should like to wish you all a happy and peaceful Christmas holiday and a very happy New Year.

COYR,
David

12th, League One

Shrewsbury Town are in their ninth consecutive season in League One and are in a strong position to ensure the run is extended into a 10th year.

Consistently occupying the mid table spots, former Cheltenham Town player and manager Steve Cotterill steered Salop to their best finish in recent years last season. Matt Taylor took charge ahead of the new campaign having Salop occupying a similar position again with six of their eight wins coming since the start of October.

It is at home that they have forged a decent record this term where they are ranked in the top 10 in the league. One of those wins included their opening day 1-0 success over the Robins.

However, their recent record at the Robins' home somewhat mirrors their away form this term. Two trips to the Completely-Suzuki Stadium in the last two seasons have ended in disappointment. The Shrews come into the clash two wins and seven defeats on the road in the league in the current season.

Also, they have only managed to find the net on 13 occasions in the league this season, which is just one more than their Gloucestershire opponents.

Despite that they boast a group of players capable of bringing some festive delight to the Salop faithful. Strikers Ryan Bowman and Daniel Udoh have five goals apiece in all competitions with the latter also setting up four others too. Supplementing them from the midfield has been the creative threat of Jordan Shipley and former Cheltenham loanee Taylor Perry. Sitting behind them at the base of the midfield is Carl Winchester with the experienced head of Chey Dunkley leading the backline.

22nd, Championship

Reading have quickly joined the list of clubs who have graced the Premier League in years gone by to plying their trade in the third tier of English football.

10 years ago, it would've been unimaginable to think the Royals would be sat in the relegation zone in League One at Christmas after spending the 2012/13 season in the Premier League. But that is the position they find themselves in amid financial problems that closed the chapter on a topsy turvy time in the Championship.

Financial breaches meant a four point deduction greeted them upon their arrival to League One and hindered their early season ambitions. However, a recent turnaround in form under manager Ruben Selles with a couple of wins and draws has brought the Royals closer to safety. The meeting between the two sides earlier this season saw the Reading emerge 1-0 winners in the first ever league meeting between the two clubs.

A key duo on that night was the midfield pairing of Lewis Wing and Charlie Savage. Wing's signing from League One rivals Wycombe Wanderers is turning into an inspired one with nine goal contributions to his name this term with Savage, who spent time at Cheltenham's Gloucestershire rivals Forest Green Rovers last term, scoring on four occasions himself.

Scoring goals hasn't been an issue for the Royals with the second best goalscoring record out of the sides in the bottom half with the signings of Harvey Knibbs and Sam Smith resulting in nine league goals between them and 15 in all competitions.

But at the other end of the field, conceding them has been a problem. Heading into the 23rd round of matches, they have conceded the joint most out of the 24 sides.

#HER GAME TOO IT'S #HERGAMETOO

In 2021, a group of passionate women fans felt mobilised to start a campaign called #HerGameToo.

The campaign is committed to fostering an ethos in football where women are welcomed and respected equally and can be confident sharing their opinions about football online and in person without fear of sexist abuse. This afternoon, we introduce two new advocates to the cause.

Cheltenham Town's Her Game Too ambassador, Kelly-Marie Selby, tells us: "Growing up loving football, it was so sad that not only did girls not have the opportunities that boys had to further their abilities, but trying to voice my opinion was almost impossible. As soon as I tried to express any views I was told I was a girl, I didn't know anything about football, and I should just concentrate on make up and being a girl."

"The younger me shied away from fighting, but as I got older, I knew this wasn't right and that I should be allowed to join in on conversations about football. So when the opportunity came to become an ambassador of an amazing campaign to empower women to have a voice without fear, I put myself forward. Over the past few months I've been ambassador for Her Game Too Cheltenham, and this has now grown with three incredible ladies coming on board - Mary Stone, Taz Scales and Emily Moore.

"Together, we want to help create an environment at The Completely-Suzuki Stadium where women of all ages can feel welcome and safe without fear of sexism and misogyny, knowing there are avenues to report such incidents."

Introducing themselves, Taz explained: "53 years ago the ban of woman playing football was finally lifted, and now we are seeing woman on the big screens influencing the new generation. Her Game Too brings awareness to the struggles woman players and fans may face and how we can eliminate it. I am so excited to work alongside Her Game Too to raise more awareness and inspire the younger generations."

Alongside Taz and Kelly-Marie, Mary reflected on what the campaign is for her: "Her Game Too means being able to go and watch football games wherever I want, whenever I want, without being made uncomfortable. In the short space of time I've been involved with this group, I've connected with so many female football friends, like Kelly and Taz, and sharing our experiences together shows exactly why we're doing what we're doing.

"I'd encourage everyone to find a way to get involved with Her Game Too, it could be through doing something so simple as wearing our badge or taking a more front facing role in tackling sexism in football."
